Yes, it's called having the capacity for independent and critical thought. You've just demonstrated you're unable to break out of the Tory vs Labour box, which explains why you seem so incapable of entertaining any criticism of this Conservative government. I'd call that extreme.

more important at the moment is to be aware of the dangers of Covid. We're much more likely to get it.

Tees Valley Voice @TeesValleyVoice · 6 Std.

Less than 1% of the UK population have tested positive this year. I don't consider that as "we're much more likely to get it".

As for deaths, less than one tenth of 1% have died from it in the UK. This is three times less than Asian flu in 1957 for which there was no lockdown.

The new normal, in which the Boris J dictates how many people you can peacefully interact with, is dystopian. Am I the only one who is genuinely more worried about government overreach than a virus with a 99.5%+ recovery rate?

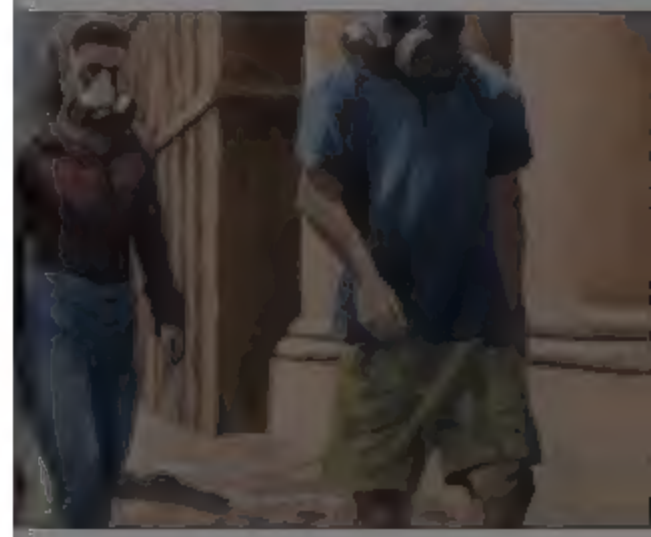
No, your argument was definitely that authoritarianism is ok so long as others out there are even more authoritarian:



'Our government is not anything like as authoritative as most countries.'

I'm taking this very seriously. It's the biggest erosion of liberty in living memory.

From what I can work out you'd be happy to accept atrocities served on a people by a government so long as Members of Parliament are democratically elected. I mean, it's a strong position, but at least you're honest.

Kim C @KimCarolC · 30. Sept.
Explain to me your understanding of democracy. Seems you are confused. Have you lived in an undemocratic country, because you certainly have crazy ideas about what govts will do. Like saying a doctor will kill you because he has the power to administer drugs.

It's not incorrect, every year more and more people have the flu vaccine,that's why the numbers dropped. If there were a vaccine for C19 we wouldn't need these restrictions,in the same way we don't need them for the flu

Again, that's not how it works. The flu vaccine changes every year to target annual mutations. A vaccine from a few years go would be fairly ineffective against new mutations. The flu vaccine in 17/18 failed & led to an extra 50k people dying in Eng & Wal.

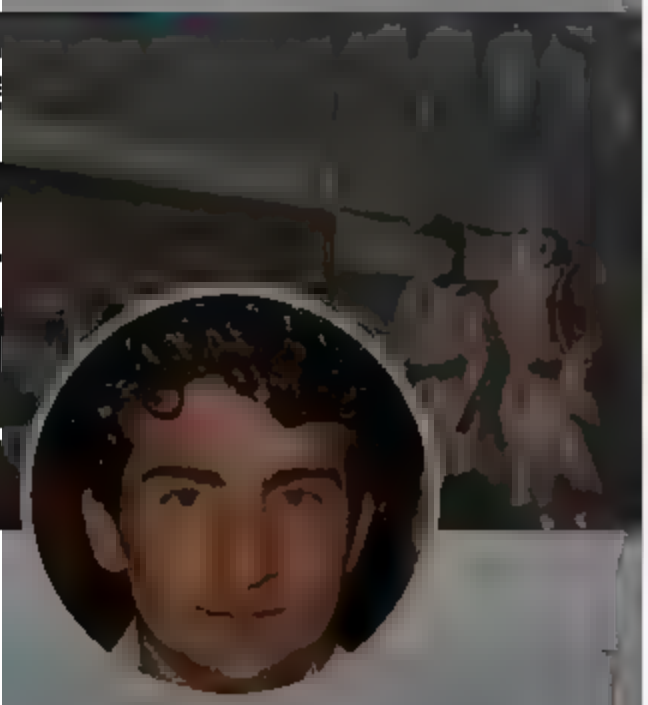
To find a vaccine for a virus with a survival rate some scientists put at 99.9%?



When you're in a hurry you make mistakes. The last time we rushed a vaccine was for Swine Flu in 2010 where hundreds of children across Europe got irreversible narcolepsy.

Let's look at cases vs deaths in Spain. More than a month into their supposed 'second wave' and no significant increase in deaths. The UK are only a couple of weeks behind. There will also be no significant increase in deaths. And you will look silly.

First, I didn't insult you so if you do, I block you right away. Then, there are an increase in deaths in Spain which looks like this now. W/ the assumption Rt will get back below 1.0 mid October & stabilize between 0.85 and 0.9. it gives 23K cumulated death between 1/07 & 30/11

The flu vaccine delivery method has been around for 70+ years. We have never developed a safe and successful vaccine for a coronavirus. There is no safe vaccine coming in the next 10 years. Good job Covid19 has a 99.9% survival rate.

Ok. So every year we have flu season. If I have flu and go about my business (I may be asymptomatic) I may pass it on to someone vulnerable. There are 17k flu deaths per year in England.

According to your logic the government should be controlling our movements every flu season.

If we have BHM then why not Jewish HM, Female HM, LBTQ HM, Work n Class HM etc

Why give black superior, unique status?

Why have segregated teaching?

If we have BHM, does that mean we re not learning enough about it in other months?

Why too little, then a concentration?

Still doubling down on wishing death on other human beings. Nice chap. 👎

How many deaths do you think Biden and Trump are responsible for, combined?

I don't wish harm to come to anyone (I've taken care of some pretty despicable people during my career), but I can certainly understand that others might say something like this. You're pearl-clutching

Not a word from you on police brutality but this gets you all disgruntled?

Do you genuinely think even a majority of people would accept a vaccine that has shortcutted years of safety trials? The last time we did that was Pandemrix - didn't go so well, huh? I think most sensible people will take their chances with a virus that has a 99.9% survival rate.

deaths vary widely from a high of 28,330 in 2014/15 to a low of 1,692 in 2018/19. Public Health England does not publish a mortality rate for the flu.

That's not how flu seasons work. We talk about the average because some seasons are far milder than others. The flu jab has been around for decades and is only around 40% effective. Nice try, but it's both incorrect and irrelevant to the question posed.

How about you and your Cabinet colleagues go and isolate in a room together with no access to any form of communication to the outside world and stay there for the next four years?

The rest of us can then just get on with our lives without your authoritarian interference.

Yep, absolutely. Not sure what your point is.

I voted Tory & was happy with the 80-seat majority in Dec. Unlike you it seems, however, I am willing to think critically & not blindly defend the indefensible because of some imaginary pre-ordained sides we're supposed to stick to.

I'm honestly not bothered about #BlackHistoryMonth. It's a bit weird & niche, but whatever.

The thing I am bothered with is that we seem to have some cause thrust upon us every month, backed by retailers, that's used by woke progressives to sow seeds of division in our society.

No, t's not 'far more important'

The war generation gave up their lives to preserve their freedom. This generation wants to give up their freedom to preserve their ives.

Disappointing.

Ok. I disagree.

But also it's not just a mask, is it? Earlier in the year we were under house arrest. We can now only socialise with five others at a time. The government is tracking our movements. Students now unable to leave campus. Threats of a second full lockdown.

The case of @Sainsburys is particularly irritating given that they're promoting racial segregation & paying employees different wages based on ethnicity, which is abhorrent & illegal.

I'm confused. Normally all you #KBF people say Covid doesn't exist conspiracy/global reset. Now you capitalise on what may seem like a low number, conceding it's real

You do realise all 770 (10% may increase) are capable of transmitting regardless, don't you?

Hi Jason. Don't be confused. There are lots of opinions out there. Mine are:

1. Covid isn't as dangerous as we are led to believe. That seems clear in the data. Survival rate ≈99.5%av.

2. No government should have the power to restrict the movements of free people. Hence #KBF.

You can avoid being a mansplainer by asking yourself these questions.

Did she indicate any desire to hear this information?

Is it possible that she knows more about this topic than I do?

Did I read the room before starting to speak?

Mansplaining

/mænsplenɪŋ/

1. The practice of a man explaining something to a woman in a way that shows he thinks he knows and understands more than she does.

2. A patriarchal act that trains women in self-doubt and self-limitation just as it exercises men's unsupported overconfidence

I tweet about lots of things. Have you read them all? I'm also British and don't live in the US so really have very little interest in their domestic policing issues.

I saw a tweet in my Twitter feed of someone wishing death on someone else and I replied. It's that simple.

Sainsbury's

At present there is no nationally recognised day or month called White History Month and in an ideal world we wouldn't need a specific month to celebrate any group of people, because we would all be celebrated equally and at all times. Instead it could be said that it is more common for us to celebrate the achievements and historical contributions of white people than any other ethnic or racial group. Therefore to expand our view of the world, it is Nope. You've misunderstood the issue. People are just tired of being lectured to by retailers.

The case of @Sainsburys is particularly irritating given that they're promoting racial segregation & paying employees different wages based on ethnicity, which is abhorrent & illegal.

Antwort an @HugoVlaenderen @CNN

My opinion is irrelevant. People are entitled to hold different opinions. I'm raising the point that the 'opinion' of CNN reporters does not constitute 'objectivity'. It just ensures they're viewed as a partisan political group. You could apply the same to various media outlets.

Like BLM, Mugabe was into black supremacy. Like Idi Amin, he was a despot, even to black people who didn't agree with his way of doing things.

As an apologist for black despots and Marxist black supremacists you show very poor judgement

@afneil

Since the British Government has made a total Horlicks of counting Covid cases, perhaps we should move back to Covid deaths, which even the government can't screw up (I think). The seven day moving average of Covid deaths is 51. 51 too many. But hardly a pandemic.

No, deaths were the primary number discussed by government and media in the spring. When they plummeted they switched to number of positive tests to keep the fear up

I regret my vote

You know I grew up in a labour strong hold, real working class when labour were working class That same stronghold is now Tory for the first time in decades.

Labour never again,

And likely Tory never again for those that switched

That's bollox! My local surgery is carrying on as normal but with masks and screenings. Non urgent cases are delayed and some hospitals are very busy with post Covid complications. Quite a few who have it tend to be iller afterwards with other issues. Some get it again. Nasty

I disagree. A spoiled ballot is still a vote. In Australia they have a box for 'none of the above'. We don't have that (although should) so a spoiled ballot is our equivalent. I've never done it before.

The thing I would say is that you should always use your vote in some way.

Conservatives and libertarians need something to unite around. That happened in December bds they have rewarded us with this sh*tshow. The Conservative Party is no longer an option after what they've done this year.

Please consider before spoiling your ballot. Since the Magna Carta and the Bill Of Rights we have had freedoms and rights as individuals.

Our vote gives us power as individuals over the state. Each vote is private totem individual and very important

You forget that in many constituencies there is limited choice. Maybe only four standing sometimes from the major parties plus an independent who is usually a lunatic. There often is not someone who is saying what you suggest.

Problem is they would probably only be able to put up candidates in a handful of constituencies so wouldn't be an option for most of us.

I don't really see the petition aspect as important here. The important part is that it is a viable alternative path backed by leading epidemiologists, which can now be referenced in critiques, and will add political pressure to the government.

Your right but the question I raised was if your not prepared to have the vaccine to protect yourself at Government's request which represents its citizens/tax payers why if you get as a result of C19 should you demand to be treated over those who have had a C19 vaccine ?

WunWabbitWun @1wabbitt1 2 Min
.on the same basis then, f you take the unproven vaccine. knowing that the manufacturers have obtained tota non responsibility for t, and that the first guinea pigs suffered serious effects then you get a serious side effect, why should you get treated for that side effect?

Fact that it's tweeked each year bears me out.
I had my first and last flu vaccine several yrs ago told I'd hardly know I'd been infected that wasn't my experience got worst flu I'd ever had and what's more passed it onto my wife who suffered same symptoms we've avoided since we really know about it because as I understand it it's a guesstimate of what flu strain will appear in that year not everybody's body will react the same so that's also Russian roulette

The Prime Minister is right we cannot allow #coronavirus to rip through our communities & overwhelm the NHS

Our strategy is to suppress the virus, supporting education, the economy & the NHS until a vaccine can keep us safe

Each pub requires a mea with alcoho , less ncentive to hop from bar to bar if you have to buy a meal in each one. so you're gonna stay in one bar for longer and limit your contacts
Less contact with people ess spread.
Hope that clears things up

Ok. That's a hypothesis. To turn that into a 'scientific basis' for making decisions you're going to need to go further.

If you could let us know the sample size, the controls used, and the results data from your experiment I'd love to take a look.

Hope that clears things up.

LONDON SW1A 0AA

13th Oct 2020

Dear Prime Minister,

The Covid-19 crisis has hit the country hard but we can only be impressed by the magnificent response by so many to get us through it. You have said that the current approach will last for another six months, at least and that you hope a "new normal" will set in by October next year. Whilst I share your confidence that we will get through this crisis, I am increasingly concerned about what is being done to achieve the end of it.

The Greater Manchester "local lockdown" and more extreme economic lockdown have both failed to control the number of positive tests within the Borough of Bolton which have inexorably risen.

During the lockdown period, in comparison to last year Bolton has seen 20,000 fewer GP referrals to hospital, whilst many other people have not accessed vital treatment because they have been too frightened to do so. By taking the current approach to Covid-19 we are creating many other health problems, which are leading to pain, suffering and death.

The closure of pubs, restaurants and cafes combined with the reduction of footfall on our highstreets has brought many family owned businesses in my constituency to the brink of collapse and pushed others over the edge. Whilst many employees and businesses have received substantial support a great many business owners have received nothing and will continue to receive no support.

The damage done to physical and mental health as well as to livelihoods and businesses would be justified if the threat from Covid-19 was as first suggested. I know that this novel pandemic virus posed a serious but little understood threat but we have learnt so much since it first emerged. I now believe that the attempted cure is worse than the disease and that this second six-month phase will not see the delivery of a solution via mass vaccination. The Government will then begin its next phase of control.

There is a healthy debate on how we can eliminate this coronavirus or how we can live with it and this is being led by many distinguished academics, epidemiologists and other specialists. I believe that there are better alternatives to the Government's approach, so I therefore tender my resignation.

Yours sincerely,

Chris Green MP

It's almost as if the government don't know what they're doing and individuals are best placed to make decisions regarding personal risk and their own health...

At this stage, @MattHancock, you are beyond political redemption.

worse than the disease, so I have stepped down from my role as Parliamentary Private Secretary

LONDON SW1A 0AA

13th October 2020

Dear Prime Minister,

The Covid-19 crisis has hit the country hard but we can only be impressed by the magnificent response by so many to get us through it. You have said that the current approach will last for another six months, at least and that you hope a "new normal" will set in by October next year. Whilst I share your confidence that we will get through this crisis, I am increasingly concerned about what is being done to achieve the end of it.

The Greater Manchester "local lockdown" and more extreme economic lockdown have both failed to control the number of positive tests within the Borough of Bolton which have inexorably risen.

During the lockdown period, in comparison to last year Bolton has seen 20,000 fewer GP referrals to hospital, whilst many other people have not accessed vital treatment because they have been too frightened to do so. By taking the current approach to Covid-19 we are creating many other health problems, which are leading to pain, suffering and death.

The closure of pubs, restaurants and cafes combined with the reduction of footfall on our highstreets has brought many family owned businesses in my constituency to the brink of collapse and pushed others over the edge. Whilst many employees and businesses have received substantial support a great many business owners have received nothing and will continue to receive no support.

The damage done to physical and mental health as well as to livelihoods and businesses would be justified if the threat from Covid-19 was as first suggested. I know that this novel pandemic virus posed a serious but little understood threat but we have learnt so much since it first emerged. I now believe that the attempted cure is worse than the disease and that this second six-month phase will not see the delivery of a solution via mass vaccination. The Government will then begin its next phase of control.

There is a healthy debate on how we can eliminate this coronavirus or how we can live with it and this is being led by many distinguished academics, epidemiologists and other specialists. I believe that there are better alternatives to the Government's approach, so I therefore tender my resignation.

Yours sincerely,

Chris Green MP

Its because of behaviour like this that the virus is spreading Younger folk may get the virus & have no problems, but if its transmitted to other people with underlying problems then they might not recover at all

Good point. We know who those 'people with underlying problems' are so let's spend a good amount of public money helping them to properly shield if they choose to do so. The rest of us can then get back to normal, protecting our economy and mental health.

Its because of behaviour like this that the virus is spreading Younger folk may get the virus & have no problems, but if its transmitted to other people with underlying problems then they might not recover at all

Good point We know who those people with underlying problems are so let s spend a good amount of public money helping them to properly shield if they "choose" to do so. The rest of us can then get back to normal, protecting our economy and mental health.

It's a good job we have a national health service then and have created extra capacity in specially designed and constructed medical facilities. That was literally the entire point of the first lockdown - to allow the NHS to prepare - which it has.

Controversial question:

Would you rather have an authoritarian UK government and remain out of the EU, or have a freedom-loving properly conservative government but you have to rejoin the EU?

(Yes, I'm aware there are multiple issues with this question!)

The EU is authoritarian so the second answer is not a valid one.

All governments, national and supranational, are merely puppets of the Global cabal.

So neither option for me

It is possible to have an authoritarian Government while the UK is out of the EU But it is not logically possible for a freedom-loving Government to preside over a UK in the EU, because such a Government would remove the UK from the EU

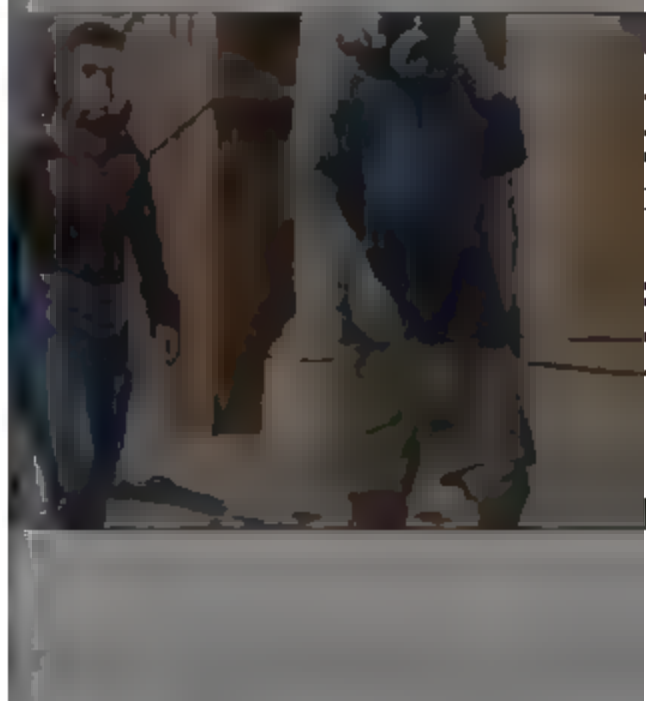
What do the @LibDems stand for?

Discrimination against people based on the colour of their skin and the denial of equal opportunity for all, it seems.



Wera Hobhouse MP @Wera_Hobhouse
Today I am presenting a Bill to Parliament that would make it legal to draw up all-ethnic minority shortlists for the selection of candidates in elections

I don't know how people are still taking 'cases' data seriously. It's been meaningless since March. Hospitalisation and death data only ones to really look at, and even then they are misreporting.

London is averaging 40 hospital admissions per day from the community. Out of 9.3 million.

On 23rd March, London had 505 admissions.

Admissions are barely rising. If this is tier 2 worthy then we are finished.

A question for lockdown sceptics.

If @UKLabour came out hard against lockdown, against any real #COVID19 restrictions, and pushed to get life back to normal again, could you bring yourself to vote for them?

You don't need to provide any evidence that you are exempt. Exemption is self-certified. I just took this screenshot from the government website:

Exemption cards or badges

Some people may feel more comfortable showing something that says they do not have to wear a face covering. This could be in the form of an exemption card, badge or even a home-made sign.

This is a personal choice, and is not necessary in law.

If you would like to use an exemption card you can use the PDF attachments on this page.

Those who have an age, health or disability reason to not wear a face covering should not be routinely asked to provide any written evidence of this. Written evidence includes exemption cards.

In a now-deleted tweet, @GMPstretford requested that members of the public 'bring proof' of mask exemption, in contravention of the Equality Act 2010 and government guidelines.

Extremely worrying that the police are attempting to work outside the bounds of the law. #Covid19

@GMPstretford

5 tickets issued to people inside the Trafford Centre yesterday failing to wear a mask. Most people complied with the new law and supported our presence. We will be there again today so please wear your mask and if exempt bring proof. Thanks

This is the sort of data misunderstanding that AN as an interviewer would rightly skewer an interviewee for making twitter.com/arne/status/

Confirmed cases in Sweden - daily update

Listen

NEW: Changed reporting for the statistics of covid-19
Data reported during weekends is delayed in the reporting system SmiNet. This means that the data is not fully updated on Mondays and is incomplete until Tuesday. As the data is not complete on Mondays, the statistics on covid-19 cases will be compiled Tuesday to Friday from Monday 14 September. The statistics page will continue to be updated at 14:00 Tuesday to Friday with daily data. Data are reported compiled on the reporting date in SmiNet, which means that daily data is reported afterwards even for the days when no update of the statistics page is made. Weekly data is updated at 14:00 on Thursdays.

Just take a look at @GMPstretford's tweet's & replies & you'll see them admitting to operating outside of the law.

for not wearing a face covering should not be routinely asked to give any written evidence of this, this includes exemption cards. No person needs to seek advice or request a letter from a medical professional about their reason for not wearing a face covering.

Some people may feel more comfortable showing something that says they do not have to wear a face covering. This could be in the form of an exemption card, badge or even a home-made sign.

This is a personal choice and is not necessary in law.

This is a personal choice, and is not necessary in law.

If you would like to use an exemption card you can use the PDF attachments on this page.

Those who have an age, health or disability reason to not wear a face covering should not be routinely asked to provide any written evidence of this. Written evidence includes exemption cards.

Yes, but to really tell "long term side effects" you would have to wait a generation, to see if offspring are affected. Like what went wrong with Stilberstrol. But this is a flu vaccine, made up of ant bodies

Ok. So let me get this straight.

You don't trust the BMJ who are reporting on a serious issue with a vaccine, that was also demonstrated in a court of law.

You do trust 'reputable pharmaceutical companies' to give you a safe vaccine (except GSK).

Such an odd position.

They are not an established nor reputable one as compared to the others in terms of longevity & reputation. Thought that counted for you, as with vaccine testing?

It's Ok, I knew I would be attacked for expressing an open objective mind on this subject.
"Balance of probability" rule
No need to be nasty, really, is there? I wouldn t be "injecting myself" for a start.
There were similar views as yours over antibiotics, back in the day.

1 Someone not agreeing with you isn't you being attacked.

2 I can't see that your opinion is particularly well informed. You've just referred to GSK, the manufacturer of Pandemrix, as a 'vague sounding global healthcare company that invented itself as such on the internet'.

Clarissima @Clarissima5 6 Min
You have missed the point. They self describe themselves as such. That is, objectively self invention, yes One drug they produced does not an established & reputable pharmaceutical company make &Telling someone to go inject themselves with anything does seem somewhat 'attacky

The Equalities Minister could not have been clearer

Black Lives Matter and Critical Race Theory are political and do not belong in schools

Teaching ideas such as 'white privilege' as a factual reality is breaking the law!

Also worth noting that the modelling Ferguson was using for COVID19 predicted 85k deaths in Sweden. The reality is that even without locking down Sweden's deaths are just over 5k.

According to Anders Tegnell, they could see the variables in the modelling were 'quite extreme'.

It sounds like you're managing your own risk as a family in the way you feel is right. That's exactly how it should be.

You can't 'beat' an endemic virus. China certainly hasn't, and I wouldn't believe their data either. Covid19 will now circulate along with other coronaviruses.

Yes, of course Covid restrictions. I also don't tend to judge my PM in terms of whether other leaders have also been insane authoritarians. I judge him on what he does. And what he has done is enacted an anti-conservative erosion of individual liberty. He is not a conservative.

I haven't seen them since March

But in principle, yes, whilst tak ng all the norma precautions we would when a particular virus s prevalent (not that I really think Covid s that prevalent any more). But that would be up to them as wel t's called managing your own risk.

william @w hewont 12 M n

I think you re against any state control I suspect you wouldn't accept a vaccine

I have little faith in the wider public to manage their own risk, which is why the government needs to act.

I used to be rebe ous but after many mistakes ,I decided to change More happy now.

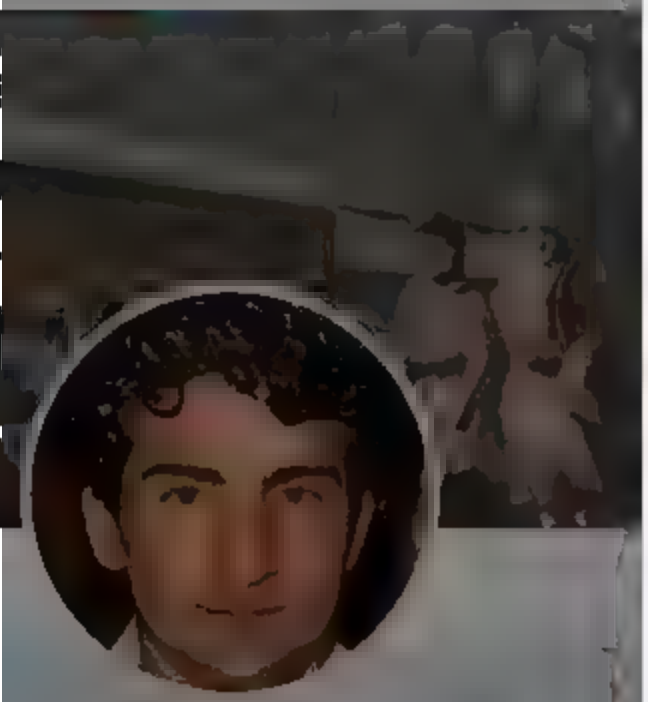
1. I've had many vaccines. I wouldn't accept a vaccine that has shortcutted safety trials.

2. Whether or not you have faith in the public is irrelevant. The principle of liberty is not dependent on competence.



3. If being conservative & pro-liberty is rebellious we are f*cked.

I feel like our politicians have gone clinically insane. It's like we're in a parallel universe. Every day there is some new lunacy inflicted upon the general public.

Hard to believe how far we've fallen since the December election.

More than 5,000 of you voted and it's hardly a surprise that Margaret Thatcher has absolutely demolished @BorisJohnson.

What was more surprising is that John Major is more popular than @David_Cameron. 👀😂 twitter.com/newtonclarkeuk …

A £10k fine and then potential jail is not a big stick?

Boris has built his entire strategy on the modelling of Neil Ferguson, whose previous failures in pandemic modelling have been well documented.

He has overseen the most serious erosion of liberty in living memory.

Everyone (of voting age) should have a vote, right?
But not more than one, right?
Then how about 'not less than one' which is what happens in FPTP, where all losing votes (usually the majority!) = 0.
In FPTP a losing vote is worth nothing, the voter has no representation.

I'm on consistent, reasonable thought. Unlike many 'lifelong Tories' who are unable to view the world as anything except Con vs Lab and are unwilling to entertain that this Con government is down a dark, dangerous, authoritarian path.

No prescription required. Just an open mind.

The @WestMidsPCC has today said his officers will 'intervene' to break up Xmas gatherings that break Covid restrictions.

The Covid regulations give police no power to enter your home if they suspect rule-breaking.

So, if you get a knock at the door this Christmas will you...

Two adults & two children aged 5 & 8 died after their boat sank while crossing the Channel. They were hoping to rebuild their lives here.

This tragedy shows why instead of whipping up fear about a "migrant crisis", we should create safe & legal routes to sanctuary in the UK.

As you've just blocked me I'll reply here.

Boris Johnson has specifically denounced herd immunity multiple times. I think you're a bit confused.

So, to be clear, you are supporting Boris Johnson, not me. 😂

Define 'facts'. My suspicion is that a 'fact' in those circumstances would also encapsulate an 'opinion' - as is so often the case.

Today is vindication for those who campaigned against antisemtism during the election campaign & condemnation for those who ignored it.

The @EHRC report concludes @UKLabour are 'responsible for unlawful acts of harassment & discrimination' #Corbyn

The EHRC report, from what I've read, is measured and thorough (even if there were a couple of instances where I differed with the assessment of inappropriate intervention).

Jeremy Corbyn's suspension is oil on the fire. It is grotesquely unfair and a mockery of antiracism.

Looks like the defence @UKLabour is now putting forward for @jeremycorbyn is that he has a 'blind spot' when it comes to antisemitism.

Well, he's in good company. Hitler, Goebbels and Himmler also has 'blind spots' in that area.

I have been in touch with Jeremy Corbyn to offer my solidarity. I know Jeremy as someone who deeply cares for working class people and marginalised groups

I hope the situation can be swiftly resolved so that we can focus on implementing the recommendations the EHRC report.

Jeremy Corbyn from the Labour Party someone who I know genuinely and deeply cares for the welfare and dignity of working class people and marginalised groups. I have looked up to Jeremy most of my life and have a great deal of personal affection for him.

I have sent Jeremy a personal message of solidarity and have also been honest with him in making clear that I cannot agree with his statement following the publication of the EHRC report and believe he was wrong to make it. My own views on the EHRC report were made yesterday in my statement to local Jewish communities.

However on a day for serious reflection on antisemitism in the party I am concerned that the decision to suspend Jeremy and remove the whip appears unjust and does more harm than good particularly given that the grounds on which he has been suspended and which rule he has broken remain unclear.

I hope that this situation can be resolved positively following clear transparent and swift due process and without losing focus on the priority of fully implementing the recommendations of the EHRC report as soon as possible

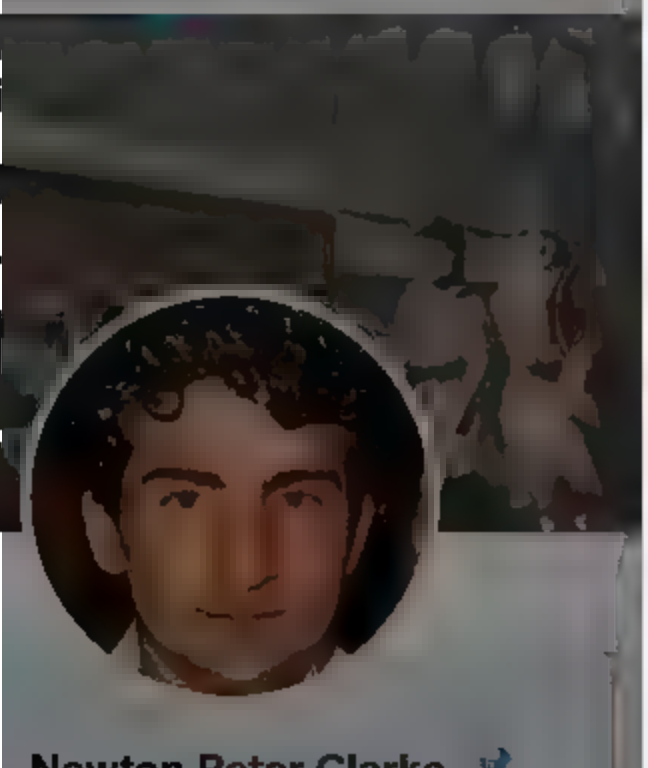
1. The topic is ‘lockdown’ not ‘masks’. Keep up.

2. Every virus is ‘deadly’ to some. Even the common cold. Covid19 is not ‘deadly’ to 99.7% of people.



3. You might want to do some reading of 20th century history and authoritarianism.

P.s. remember to change the bed sheets.

Parliamentary democracies, to function well, need strong opposition parties.

Although many of us have revelled in @UKLabour's horrific downfall over recent years we're now suffering the effects. They're completely incapable of holding this authoritarian government to account.

This @jeremycorbyn 'blind spot' phrase has now been used by @Keir Starmer, @AngelaRayner, and @lisanandy. It seems to be the agreed-upon line from @UKLabour.

He's in good company, though. Hitler, Goebbels and Himmler also had a 'blind spot' when it came to antisemitism. #Labour

A lot to unpack there... but:

1. 'German' is not the equivalent of 'Muslim'.

2. Islam is an ideology. German is not. In your scenario 'Nazi' is the ideology.

3. So no, I don't want to see an evil ideology imported into my country, no matter what it is.

False equivalence. The equivalent to Islam would be Judaism, not Jews. Islam is an ideology. It seems to be incompatible with western liberal democracy. The fact you're unable to separate these things out and just jump to emotive genocidal language just demonstrates your low IQ.

This is all a rather strange argument FOR the EU. What advantage does an inefficient and anti-democratic political union have over independent nation states in combatting Islamic extremism? Bizarre.

3 Now that we have left, our government has no excuse for poor immigration policy

Kypros Kyprianou @KyprousCYP 34 Min

So in conclusion I ask you, why not try fix the union you re already in? How would you now feel if 52% of Londoners preferred to be independent from the rest of the United Kingdom This wouldn t work well since everyone here shares the same values very well apart from extremists.

Newton Peter Clarke #KBF @NewtonClarkeUK 28 Min

Because I believe in the Nation State. do not want political union with other Nation States I want good trade relations and cooperation in various areas but not political union That is not a change the EU is willing to make. Therefore. it's impossible.

Kypros Kyprianou @KyprousCYP 19 Min

We l have to agree to disagree on that one but you re kinda going against the flag and name that you re presenting in your username and title. A nation state for you would be England and not the UNITED Kingdom which is of course a political union. & also how about Commonwealth?

I am happy with the unit of Great Britain as a nation state with devolved powers. Still one head of state. It is a unique and ancient Union.

I hope you understand that the recent terrorist attacks were unofficially approved by the Un ted Kingdom via Turkey who quite clearly were behind these recent terror attacks whether it was by brainwashing or by literally sponsoring it as they do with Syrian mercenaries.

Incorrect. The most vulnerable are not being protected. Your husband does not benefit from healthy people being locked down. Your husband would benefit from increased targeted government support.

"PROTECT THE NHS"

That monotonously repeated mantra is possibly the strongest argument for privatisation I've ever heard. On what planet would you be expected to 'protect' a service you pay for. You'd simply take your business to another provider.

SNAP POLL: 72% of English adults support the new plans to return to lockdown. 23% are opposed, with opposition highest among 18-24 year olds (32%).

yougov.co.uk/topics/health

72% of English people support the plan to return to lockdown

Boris Johnson has announced a four-week national lockdown for England from Thursday where people will have to stay at home except from shopping for food and essential goods, outdoor exercise, medical reasons, providing care for vulnerable people, work for those who cannot work from home and education. Non-essential shops, pubs and restaurants will close but schools and universities will remain open. Do you support or oppose this four week national lockdown for England? % of 2,258 adults in England

The SDP have been opposing lockdowns from beginning. Reform of the system will require the removal of left wing bad faith actors too. Also, whilst I have no doubt of Farage's ability to deny election to Tories, I do doubt his ability to win a national election outright.

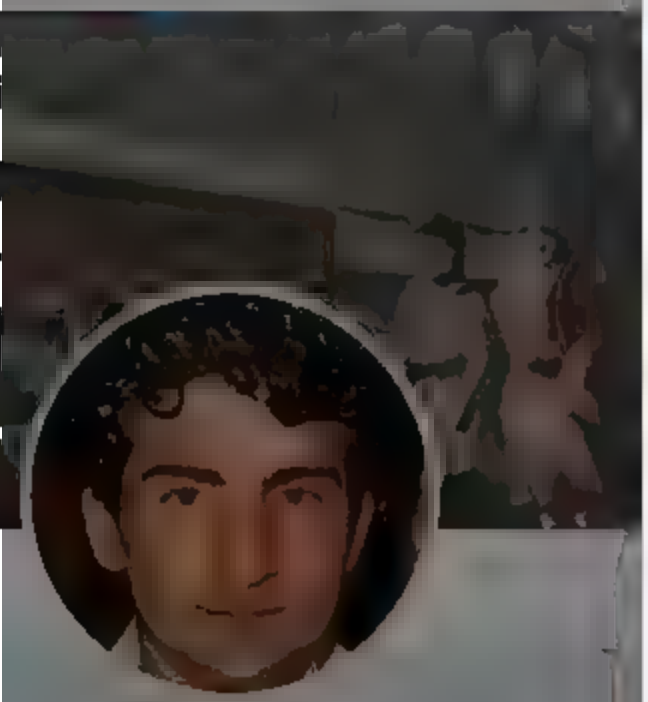
Yes, but unfortunately the SDP are an extremely minor party right now.



Of course Farage can't win a General Election outright, but being able to deny victory for the Conservatives is enough to pressurise them to change path, potentially. As was the case with Brexit.

If you read such verses we have to think about the historical context which means "occasion of revelation" There was always an occasion, a reason for a verse to be revealed. A verse was always revealed in the context of certain circumstances/problems++

And here is the statement from North West Ambulance Service.
#FakeNews

Traditionally, Mondays are often a very busy day for us and we are unsure as to why we are seeing a surge today. There is currently nothing to indicate this increase in calls is in relation to Covid-19. We are putting in place additional support throughout the North West and will be closely monitoring the situation throughout the evening.
There are patients who are facing delays and we are very sorry that we are unable to respond as quickly as we would like. Please help us by not calling

Nothing to do with the price of bread whatsoever.

Your defence of Boris included a reference to other countries locking down. I said I don't care what other countries do, that's their problem. I care about what our leader does. Fairly straightforward.

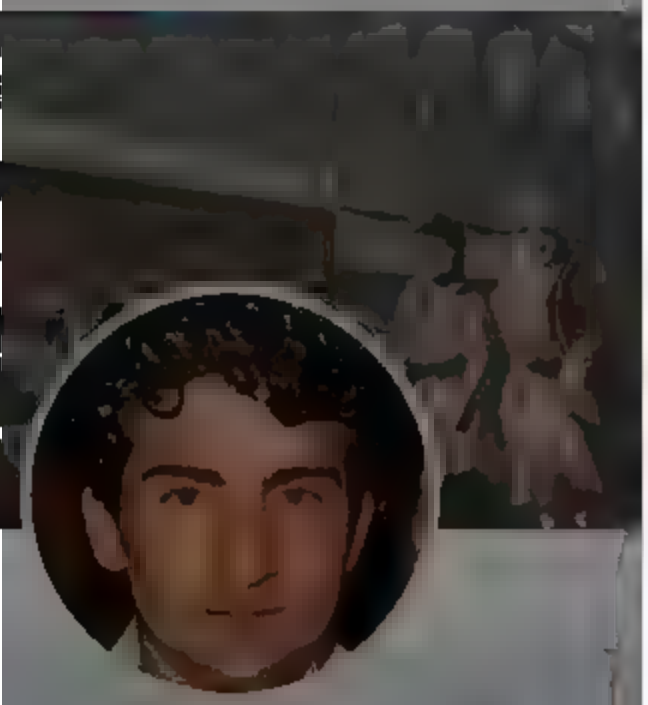
Are you brain damaged? You just wished death on me, claimed 'everyone has a support network' (untrue) and then told me a story about how you had Covid.



If you had a functioning brain you might be able to grasp that lockdowns don't stop infections but do cause death & suffering.

There is now so much evidence of electoral fraud that some of these states need to have a completely fresh vote under the watch of external, independent observers. #Elections2020

You said 'faces'. A coin has two 'faces' and an 'edge'. If the Conservatives are the heads, Labour are the tails, then what are the Lib Dems, Brexit Party, Green Party? Do they all fit around the edge?

Is no sense of smell a symptom of flu?

Newton Peter Clarke #KBF

@NewtonC arkeJK

Fo gen

Antwort an @WeDo ngAV a @tl nkbr v und 2 we tere

Yes.

changes in sense of smell are most often caused by:

- a cold or flu
- sinusitis (sinus infection)
- an allergy, like hay fever
- growths in your nose (nasal polyps)

These can cause:

- loss of smell (anosmia)
- smelling things that are not there (phantosmia), like smoke or burnt toast
- reduced sense of smell (hyposmia)
- the smell of things to change (parosmia)

Everyone standing in that queue is clearly healthy enough to be there. So why take a test? Do they love lockdown so much they want to ensure we are in it another 6 months?

While we are testing the healthy we wont start treating the sick again.

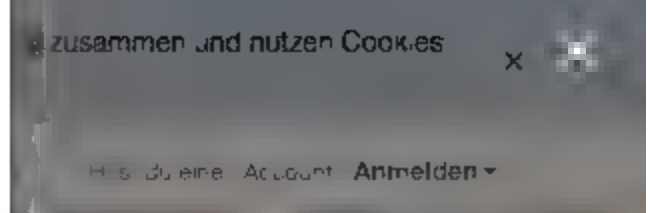
Hi @WMPolice - are you going to educate your officers and ensure the public that this won't happen again or are people going to be forced to undertake legal proceedings against you for discrimination under the Equality Act 2010?

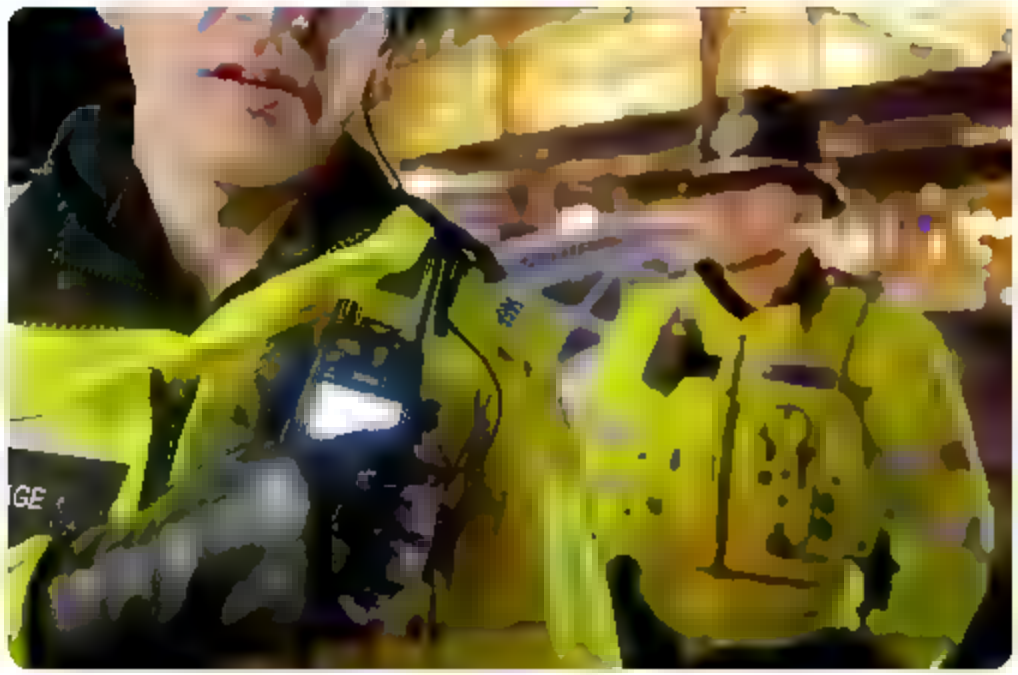
gov.uk/government/pub ...



- you do not routinely need to show any written evidence of this
- you do not need show an exemption card

This means that you do not need to seek advice or request a letter from a medical professional about your reason for not wearing a face covering.

Some people may feel more comfortable showing something that says they do not have to wear a face covering. This could be in the form of an exemption card, badge or even a home-made sign.



Carrying an exemption card or badge is a personal choice and is not required by law.

It's not actually. In this video they are breaking the law themselves by harassing a member of the public and insisting they disclose private medical information. It's called discrimination under the Equality Act 2010.

not wearing a face covering.

- you do not routinely need to show any written evidence of this
- you do not need show an exemption card

This means that you do not need to seek advice or request a letter from a medical professional about your reason for not wearing a face covering.

Some people may feel more comfortable showing something that says they do not have to wear a face covering. This could be in the form of an exemption card, badge or even a home-made sign.

Carrying an exemption card or badge is a personal choice and is not required by law.

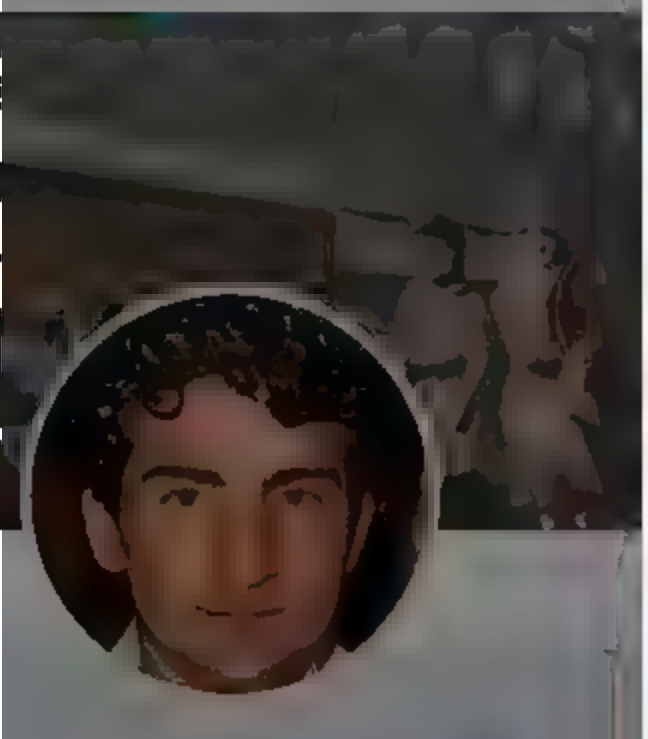
Yes, we are looking at the same page. The part you are quoting is directly above the part I am quoting which exempts some people from wearing a mask. You seem to think mask exemptions are only applicable in some circumstances. Weird and incorrect. Maybe this will help you:

people may not be able to wear a face covering. From 5 November, see the guidance on national restrictions to find out which of these settings remain open to the public.



Please be mindful and respectful of such circumstances, noting that some people are less able to wear face coverings, and that the reasons for this may not be visible to others.

This includes (but is not limited to):

What you seem to be missing here is the sensible ground in between authoritarian laws that infringe on liberties and anarchy where there are no laws.

I don't support the defacing of statues. I do support the freedom to protest. Destroying property is a crime. Protesting isn't.

We've been here. The law broken here is that he's protesting. The right to protest is vital to a free society. You're arguing that any law that's passed is ok 'because it's the law'. You fail to see how dangerous that is (see 20th century history). You then repeat same argument.

This means that you do not need to seek advice or request a letter from a medical professional about your reason for not wearing a face covering.

Some people may feel more comfortable showing something that says they do not have to wear a face covering. This could be in the form of an exemption card, badge or even a home-made sign

The brainwashing is from the incessant war remembrance, red poppy onslaught we have to put up with from TV sports stars and celebrities every year It serves to glorify legalized murder

Yeah, that's not what red poppies are. Being thankful for the people who secured your freedom, particularly in WWI & WWII, is appropriate. Or are you suggesting they should have taken an anti-war stance and allowed the Nazi's to cross the English Channel? Odd.

BREAKING: Here is the signed affidavit from Erie, Pennsylvania @USPS Whistleblower Richard Hopkins that is now in the hands of Sen. Lindsey Graham and the Senate Judiciary Committee.

#ExposeUSPS

I, Richard [illegible] declare as follows:

I am over the age of eighteen years and am legally competent to make this declaration. I have personal knowledge of the facts contained herein. If called upon, I could and would competently testify under oath as to the facts stated herein.

2. I am an employee of the United States Postal Service. I work as a carrier in the Erie, Pennsylvania post office.

3. Although, as I understand, Pennsylvania law ballots must be postmarked by 8:00 p.m. on Election Day, November 3, 2020 in Pennsylvania, Postmaster Rob Weisenbach directed my co-workers and I to pick up ballots after Election Day and backdate them to that. As directed, more fully below, I heard Weisenbach tell a supervisor at my office that Weisenbach was backdating the postmarks on the ballots to make it appear as though the ballots had been collected on November 3, 2020 despite them in fact being collected on November 4 and possibly later.

4. On November 5, 2020, as I was preparing my mail for delivery, I saw Weisenbach with Daniel Cooke, one of the supervisors for the Erie, Pennsylvania post office, having a discussion. Weisenbach and Cooke discussed how on November 4, 2020, they had backdated the postmarks on all but one of the ballots collected on November 4, 2020 to make it appear as though the ballots had instead

Preliminary news that the Pfizer/BioNTech vaccine is effective demonstrates the power of science against COVID. We must see the final safety and efficacy data, but it is very encouraging

It is essential we continue to suppress COVID, but it is a reason for optimism for 2021

"junk food" does not exist. food is food. the use of this language is generally to police fat people, but fat people have existed before that language and will exist after it's long gone food is not "healthy" or "unhealthy." it's food. railing against "junk food" or "unhealthy food" is hella anti-Black, classist, and anti-fat.

food is mf'n food. food provides nutrients. food is good so many people have such horrific relationships with food because diet culture teaches us to imagine that everything you thought you knew about food was taught on a white supremacist, capitalistic, anti-Black foundation because it was.

Wales' GCSE, AS and A-level exams in summer 2021 are to be cancelled, with grades based on classroom assessments.

Education Minister Kirsty Williams said it was impossible to guarantee a level playing field for exams due to the ongoing impact of the pandemic.

One of the slightly more agonising findings in our latest poll.

Once a vaccine is rolled out, coronavirus restrictions

Should be lifted 37%
Should not be lifted 48%
Don't know 15%

277 40 133

James Johnson @jamesjohnson252 10 Std

the generous explanation for this is that ppl are cautious about effectiveness of a vaccine and have been told things will make coronavirus go away before but there is probably a bit of pro-restrictions mentality involved in this as well

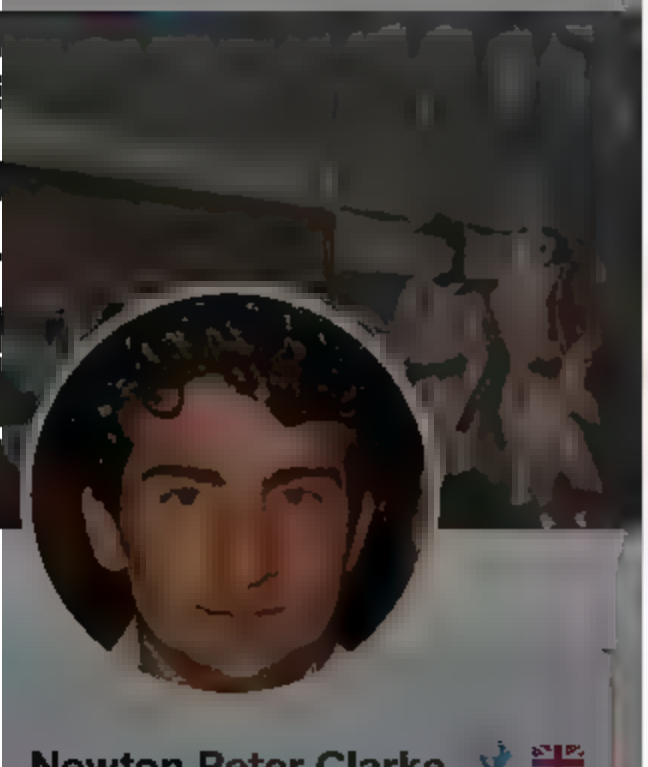
I see #Islamophobia is trending.

Just a reminder: #Islamophobia isn't a real thing. It certainly isn't racism. At best it's religious discrimination, which is also experienced by Christians every day.



Having said that, often what qualifies as #Islamophobia is simple criticism.

You say we don't need to prove we are exempt - correct.

So why then would you promote this card, produced by @WMNetwork, that claims to be 'proof to travel without a face covering?' You literally just said no proof is required... Who would need to see this this card?!

Children's books eight times as likely to feature animal main characters as BAME people

MJ @oppatunist · 11 Nov

Considering that all kids regardless of race or ethnicity seem to love books with animals, and the fact that 86% of the population of Britain s white, according to the most recent census 2011 this seems completely understandable

People think the median age for Covid fatalities is 65. In reality, it's 82.4, which is above average life expectancy.
Astonishingly, 41% think Covid is the single biggest cause of death, when it's not in the top ten.
An eye-opening poll from @TheConWom
